

ABSTRACT

An improved method and apparatus for performing linear transformations, with reduced number of arithmetic operations, simplified circuitry, and low power consumption. The method performs complex U-transformation which appear in CDMA applications. The apparatus allows for simultaneous analysis of an incoming signal in different spreading factors.

10057088.doc

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO